The disturbance came at the conclusion of a meeting and when the mayor requested that all but members of the council should leave. The Mail understands that the council was taken by overwhelming surprise, such a suspicion being far from anyone's thoughts. Mayor Bredin suggested the immediate acceptance of the resignation and communication with the authorities in regard to the case.

The Mail understands that the council and hospital board are protected by bonding houses. The alleged shortage has not been probed fully as yet, but it is suspected that in the neighborhood of $1,500 will be unaccounted for.

The accused is bonded to the extent of $5,000 by the town but the hospital board is not certain whether or not Mr. Carnegie was bonded to them.

STATHMORE TRADING COMPANY

Built to Last

THE OilPull you buy this season should be faithfully and economically serving you in 1930. This is no mere guess or prophecy. It is a statement based on actual proved performance in owners' hands.

OilPulls built eleven years ago are still performing their work as satisfactorily as the first year they were built. They show no serious results of eleven years of wear and tear, but appear good for many strenuous years to come.

The OilPull is built to last. It combines all the features that make for durability—strong frame and wheels, heavy duty motor, oversize construction in all working parts, trouble-proof oil cooling system, guaranteed kerosene burning under all conditions, every working part protected from dirt and grit. Then, it contains improvements that only an eleven year study of farming and farm problems can make possible.

Buy your tractor on the basis of the number of years of service it will give you—years of service proved by actual performance. Inquiry among tractor owners will show you the OilPull is the one tractor with proved longest life.

Four sizes—12-20, 16-30, 20-40, and 30-60 H. P.

U.F.A. MEETING

(Continuation of last week's article.)
Several members reported that certain townships had not been canvassed for the U.F.A. Drive. This has been brought to the attention of the County Office and no doubt will be looked into. The meeting was honored by the presence of the editor of the Strathmore Standard which reminded one of times when greater interest was taken in the business of the farmers, and in a short address the editor remarked that he was very pleased to see the Strathmore local waking up again, as now is the time for the farmers to hang together for the rights they have been fighting for for so many years. The next meeting is called for November 27th when we hope everybody will be present.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son Willie, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Sullivan, who died November 21st, 1915. Inherited by Father, Mother, Sisters, and Brother in law.
Days of sadness still come o'er us.
Tears of sorrow often flow.
But memory keeps our loved one near.
Though God claimed him two years ago.

Namaka Notes

The members of the C.F.W.A. met on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lewington. Some discussions took place on the lack of social meetings and general dissipation of the district, and it was decided to hold an entertainment on December 10th and everybody is invited to attend and have a good time. Mrs. Lewington has the arrangements in hand.

The newly married couple on the hill, were treated to a fine reception on Saturday night, and the view of the proceedings must have shown Mr. and Mrs. Wilder that the socialists were sincere.

The couple were hosted into a buggy hauled by a number of the stalwarts and after a furious ride round the yard were deposited at the front door of Mr. and Mrs. Brown who opened their house to the crowd. After a pleasant evening spent in song and story the company enjoyed coffee and cake and eventually dispersed at high speed.

We are pleased to report that Mr. Brown is convalescing rapidly. Mr. and Mrs. Brown spent a few days in Calgary last week.

The parents of H. Shindler were visiting at his ranch toward the end of last week.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Jas. McElroy is ill and in the Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary.

A special meeting of the shareholders of the U.G.C. Co. was held in the elevator office when Mr. Fleet of the central staff gave an address on several questions affecting the interests of the farmers.

The principal point raised was the "Wheat Market" and Mr. Fleet carried the meeting with him when he condemned the present system of grain marketing and referred to the proposal to form a wheat pool in 1921 crop.

Mr. Fleet also touched on various matters of the company's business, and at the close was awarded a vote of thanks.

It is a pity that few of the shareholders were present, because if there was a time when the Canadian farmers have to defend their industry, it is now.

The day of "individualism" is past and gone and if any farmer thinks he can "pull his own weight" for his own profit, is either committing industrial suicide, or is mean enough to hang on to the coat-tail of his well-lighted knave.

There are few farmers in the country who are satisfied with conditions this season, or any other for that part of it, but so long as they remain apathetic or self content, they can hardly expect the other fellow to help them.

Are you one of the slackers? If you pay your fee and come along to rallies.

The wheat pool will be a big question in the country to tackle it satisfactorily.

Dalemead Notes

Mr. A. Vandervelde tried a new way of hunting coyotes on his way to Calgary last week. He chased a coyote along the road for a mile or so and finally ran over him with his new "bodge".

We hear that the spinsters of the district are holding a convention in the hall on December 2nd and especially invite the bachelors.

TORONTO GIVES GREAT RECEPTION TO GENERAL BOOTH

General Bramwell Booth, Head of the Salvation Army, who has arrived in Toronto on his tour of the Dominion, was paid a warm tribute by the city this evening when he was received in front of the City Hall by Mayor Church. A huge crowd blocked the approach to the Civic building and broke into a deafening cheer as the world famous figure appeared on the steps while a massed band of 200 rendered the National Anthem. He reviewed the members of the Army in Toronto and from many rooms in Ontario at Queen's Park, previous to being received by the Mayor. Picture shows the General with Mayor Church at the City Hall.

PRESENTATION TO W. E. BROWN

At the close of the evening service at St. Michael's and All Angels Church Mr. W. E. Brown was addressed by the Incumbent, Rev. Canon Montgomery who spoke of the generous support and ever ready help given from its very beginning here by both Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown.
Sincere regret was expressed at their leaving Strathmore and being witness to their many years of happy life in their home.
On behalf of the church Canon Montgomery presented Mr. Brown with a silver cigar case and a rubber bag for Mrs. Brown as a token of the high regard, esteem and affection in which they and the members of the family have been held not only in the hearts of their fellow citizens but also in the community at large. At the close of the presentation the National Anthem was sung.

Grain prices are still low, and fluctuating from day to day. The drop during the last two months has been a severe disappointment to everyone concerned, and has acted as a check to business. Many farmers are still holding on to their grain, in the hopes that there will be a recovery in price in the spring. The depression, after a year's experience of continued selling through the wheat board has greatly strengthened the position of those who are pleading for a closer economic union of the farmers.

The fourth of the series of dances held this winter in the King Edward Hall will take place on the 27th with Walton's orchestra and other arrangements same as before.

Strathmore C.F.A. will have a special speaker down from the Central Office on Saturday, November 27, when they have their regular meeting in the King Edward.

Mr. A. Merz has sold his 279 acre farm at a price of $10,000 per acre. He intends to move to Calgary for a time for special medical treatment.

Saturday evening was quite busy in town, and two cases of assault were up for disposal on Monday. In one case a fine of $15.00 was imposed, and in the other a fine of $25.00. In the latter case the victim was in the face with a Coca-Cola bottle. It seems a pity to drag an innocent temperance bottle into a controversy of that kind. If it had been a beer bottle or whiskey bottle it would have seemed more appropriate.

Strathmore LODGE, held a very interesting meeting last Thursday evening, when a number of candidates were initiated. The Oddfellows Lodge is now making good progress locally, under the leadership of Mr. H. H. Forward.

The new skating rink is now assuming shape, and Messrs Smith and Harmer are now waiting for some winter weather to get it flooded. Strathmore is likely to have a hockey club also this winter. The new rink is being fenced, and will be lit with electricity, and being next door to the Mackinlay Block, waiting room accommodation will be ample and well-ventilated.

Messrs Smith and Harmer's clothing and grinders business is a distinct boon to the farmers of the district, and they are taking advantage of it.

The Chicken Supper under the auspices of the Methodist Ladies Aid takes place tomorrow evening.

The annual meeting of ratepayers of Strathmore School district will be held in the Fire Hall on Wednesday, December 1st, as will be noted from advt. in another column of this issue. The Board would like to see every ratepayer who can possibly attend present. The Board has received a communication from Mr. Leggett, Inspector of Schools, in which he states that the Minister of Education has invited the cooperation of all school boards and public bodies throughout the province in studying the course laid down for public schools and inviting suggestions for its improvement. Parents no doubt, will have decided views on this, and the Board would like to have a good attendance of the public to discuss this and other matters.

A dance is to be held at Nightingale on Friday evening, November 26th, and should furnish a very enjoyable time. Details will be found in our advertising columns.

A unique Baptismal Service was held in connection with the preaching services at Nightingale on Sunday last, November 21st.

The Clifton Mallory Players, who are the auspices of the Dominion League will appear here on December 7th under the auspices of the Dominion League, in the modern morality play "Vandy," will be worth while everyone's presence, and there should be a record house. This is one of the series of five concerts being promoted by Dominion League, and arranged by a local committee. The first concert was the Hibel Trio, last month. Season tickets for the four remaining concerts are offered by the committee at $5.00 and are a good buy, besides helping to promote entertainment of the right kind in Strathmore.

BLANKETS AND BLANKETING

(Experimental Farm Notes)

In summer and while at work horses do not require blanketing because they are usually warm enough. However, we are now approaching the time of the year when blanketing will under certain conditions become necessary. Young and idle horses that are gradually accustomed to the change from field to stable conditions do not require any blanketing, as the temperature becomes cooler. It is the horse that is at work in all kinds of weather, in one day and out the next, that requires close attention. When a horse comes in at night from perspiration or rain he should be dried off as much and as quickly as possible. If soaking wet a crupper may be used, this to be followed by a back rub with a wisp of hay. The horse should then be blanketed until such time as his coat becomes dry again.

The advisability of blanketing the working horse continually throughout the winter, when not out at work, depends on the conditions in the stable. Generally speaking, it is healthier to keep the stable cool enough to make a blanket necessary all the time, but stables being very unhealthy. If the stable is warm at all times it will only be necessary to blanket the horse when it comes in warm. In the former case, too heavy blankets should not be used for the horse will then feel the cold much worse and will require extra heavy blanketing if obliged to stand for any length of time outside.

When the horse is obliged to stand all day outdoors in cold weather for any length of time, it should be well blanketed. This is particularly true of clipped horses. Some horses are blanketed continually to keep them clean and to make their coats glossy. This is wrong practice for, in the first place, the dirt in a horse's coat originates for the most part in his skin hence the blanket does not make a true gloss on the coat, but only a temporary one which is soon lost when the horse goes out in the cold. Likewise one of the carry combs and the brush are the best means of obtaining a clean and glossy coat.

In the case of cattle, blanketing is not of so much importance as the animals are subject to so many changes. If, however, any animals, and especially milk cows, are being transported from one place to another in cold weather they should be properly blanketed. If being moved on foot and they have become heated up they should be blanketed until they become cooled off again. Once established in a stable it is rarely so cold that a blanket is necessary at all times. In the case of cattle washing and then blanketing heavily for a short time is often practiced to obtain a soft glossy coat for exhibition purposes.

In practically all cases of sickness in the above classes of animals blanketing is to be recommended, the idea being not to keep the animal unduly warm but to keep warm and at the same time be able to provide plenty of pure fresh air. This is particularly true in cases of pneumonia or other lung trouble. When an animal is seen standing trembling and with its back up it is safe to throw a blanket or two over it as the first remedial measure, often a good warning up at this stage will check worse sickness.

As most blankets are rather expensive they should be given a little care. After using on a sweating horse or when damp from other cause see that they are aired and dried at the first opportunity. At the end of the season they should be soaked and then washed thoroughly dried, and packed away in a box with cedar or moth balls.
